

Mathematics Society

The Maths Society was found in 1991. The main aims of the society is to arouse students' interest in mathematics, promoting maths to Josephians, and develop friendship among members.

In October, our club began recruiting members during the recruitment week. We set up a store in New Hall to introduce the activities which we planned to organise this year. Over 50 members were recruited, and we were delighted to see quite a number of new faces from form 1 to 3.

We organized tutorial classes to help the junior form students to cope with the problems in this subject. We believed that these classes would really help their studies.

As for the Open Day, which was held on 3rd April, our society set up a stall in the covered playground. Games about mathematics and IQ were available. Visitors of different ages tried our game and the responses were encouraging.

In the late March, we held a Inter-

School Mathematics Contest for students below form four. It was joined the first time we joined such competition, they did not get any prizes, but their performances were out of our expectation.

This year, we were glad to see the success of activities held and the enthusiasm of our members. Besides, we would like to express our sincere thanks to all our teacher advisors and our principal Rev. Brother Thomas for their invaluable support

Value Education & Academic Promotion Team

Frequently, in teacher rooms or in meeting rooms, you would discover that some boys are working very hard, sometimes even until 12:00 at midnight. With the presence of them, anywhere would be in sixes and sevens. Scissors, cutters, staplers, pens and even food and drinks could be found on the tables. The boys are concentrating in designing meticulous graphics in the computers and stapling colourful paper onto the notice boards. Their works seem to be extremely boring and trivial, but they are willing to accept the work and eager to do this, for the school. They are members of Value Education and Academic Promotion Team (VEAPT).

Tests and examinations

Due to the current curriculum conducted by the Education Department and Examinations Authority, tests and examinations are pervasive, unavoidable and indispensable, in order to distinguish between top and the worst students. However, there should be a force from behind in order to encourage them to study. This force is backed up by "Academic Promotion". Notice boards displaying names of boys who have done well in test and exams are constantly updated.
